Patrick Delaney of Ovation Global DMC receives IMEX Academy Award

WRITTEN BY FABIAN STOCKTON

Patrick Delaney, Co Founder and Managing Director of Ovation Global DMC was honoured with an IMEX Academy Award during the recent IMEX tradeshow in Frankfurt.

The IMEX Academy Awards are presented every year to outstanding individuals in four geographical regions who are judged to have served the meetings and incentive travel industry exceptionally well.

Each of the winners has to have achieved consistently high standards within their chosen profession and, in most cases, candidates are recommended by their colleagues.

Delaney received the award for the European region based on his longstanding commitment to driving quality standards within the industry and doing so, according to IMEX Managing Director, Paul Flackett, "with more than a little Irish charm, good humour and infectious exuberance."

Ovation Global DMC is the world's first globally integrated destination management company operating from offices at 18 locations throughout Europe, Middle East, Asia and Latin America.
