The Global Emerging Leaders Group is an international community within MPI that brings together MPI members interested in developing and continuing their leadership involvements in the meeting & events industry.

Mission Statement

Supporting the professional development of the meetings industry's future leaders

"What's the Emerging Leaders Program all about?"

- We define an emerging leader at the global level as someone who has been in the industry five years or less or is 35 years old or younger.
- We do not restrict our activities or programs only to members who fit these criteria. A number of elements of our program are specifically targeted for non-emerging leaders to give them the tools to support their own emerging leaderships.
- The emerging leader can only grow with the support of established industry professionals and the current leaders of the industry
- Supporting MPI Chapters in their Emerging Leader endeavors
