

The Judges – Biographies

Tamara Kennedy-Hill, Executive Director, Green Meeting Industry Council.

Tamara Kennedy-Hill is the Executive Director of the Green Meeting Industry Council. Tamara has over ten years experience in the hospitality and meetings industry. Tamara is a long time champion for advancing sustainability in the meetings industry; speaking at various industry events and serving as active member and program chair for GMIC prior to her role as Executive Director.

Tamara has a B.S. degree in Communication, Training and Development emphasis, and a professional certificate in Conflict Resolution and Mediation from Marylhurst University.

The Green Meeting Industry Council is the premier global community solely dedicated to sustainability in the meetings and events industry not only through education but also by spearheading research, policy and standards. The GMIC is an active member of the Convention Industry Council. The mission of the GMIC is to transform the global meetings industry through sustainability.